WHO WE ARE

Established in 1987, the Carterton District Historical Society (CDHS) comprises of a collection of enthusiasts who are interested in uncovering, preserving and sharing the history of Carterton – it's places, buildings, people, businesses, social & sporting groups and events. Our archive holds records of local historical photographs, memorabilia, regional maps, artefacts, histories of individual local businesses, school rolls, churches, Clareville cemetery records and the history of Carterton's early European settlers.

OUR SERVICES

Our volunteer team works tirelessly to ensure that local heritage is felt by all who connect with us.

Our key areas of focus include:

- Collating, cataloguing and archiving of historical documents, gathering knowledge and artefacts from around the Carterton district.
- Fostering care, preserving and using verified records and artefacts, for viewing on premises.
- Widely sharing Carterton's local history and heritage to foster community learnings and to encourage a sense of local pride - including planned in-school visits.

Join us at invited guest speaker events, members socials, local heritage walks, workshops, Carterton's annual Daffodil Festival and Carterton's Heritage Trail Walk as part of the hugely popular Wairarapa Walking Festival.

Follow us on Facebook, receive our quarterly newsletters, read our column in the Carterton Crier and visit our website:
